SICKNESS OF THE SOUL

DIAGNOSIS OF A DESTRUCTIVE DISPASS. TENTINONY AND TRRATMENT.

If I have no appetite for my daily food at breakfast at dinner, or at supper, I conchoice at once that my body is sick. And, if I have no appetite, no relish for the Broad of Life, it is a sure symptom that there is something wrong with my coul.
When I love Jesus as I should, I will have a keen relish for God's Holy Word—I will anxionaly desire to know more of His Divine Will concerning me—I will just bunger to learn all I can of His perfect character, His wondrons leve, His life and sayings while here on sarth. Should this keen sense of hunger for spiritual food be found wanting, a tonlo in the shape of more "kuced-fill," more scoret prayer, more genuine love, more beart-searching, more of God's Hely Spirit, is urgently required to restore the nermal appelits.

GREENSPOND.—Although our work of late has been very trying with such a cold and leaky barracks, but we remember that God hee given us victory and we owe a re-port to the WAR Car for it. Seen souls port to the WAR Car for it. Seen souls have found cleansing, also two backslides have returned. We also had a banquet to help fix up the barracks, and we are working to defeat the devil.—Capt. Goosy.

All the Devil Could Do.

All the Devil Could Do.

ST. JOHNS, No. II. — Rablelujah.
After another weeks fighting here, we are strong in our souls oud marching oo.
We can report victory over sin and the devil. We are having good times all the way, praiso the Dord. On Thursday night, we had a phildren's measing. We had nevil, we are naving good times at the war, praise the Lord. On Threader night, we had a children's meating. We hed with us Adjt. Jewer; there was quite a crowd, and quite a number of children were enrolled as J.S. I tell you the area were enrolled as J. S. I tell you the meeting went with a ewing, everything in real S. A. style, and at the close hee pro-digads, who, for a time were feeding on the hinsks of ein, came home to their Pathers' hous. It would have made yes look around yourself if you could have been there to hear Adji, and Capit, shoutceen there to hear Adjl. and Capt., shout-ing Cadeus, and soldlers danning. All the peer old devil could do was to stand off and look on. Its nice to be independent. Glory to God lor ever. Keep your eyes open.—Cadet FANNY CLARKE.

When but a youth I wandered far, It is as of every kind. I sought for pleasure in the world, But there I none could find.

At length I heard a people say.
That proce the Savieur 'd give,
They saked me to fersake my sin,
And turn to Him and live.

f straightway to the Iront did go,
And on my knees I lell,
"Have meray, Lord," I cried and wont,
"And nave my seul from hell."

And God. In lowe and mercy, fooked Upon my similal past; He hade me go and sin no more, And I am free at last.

For a time thinge with me went well, For God I loved to fight.

I then open my lest did rise, A better life began, And all the past I did despise, I lived a different man.

For you I loved to night.

ANOTHER OF THE DEVIL'S DUPES.

One of our officers, employed at Headquarters, was recently walking one morning down Yonge Street, Toronto, to her work. Passing a street she saw a small crowd of people gathered together, and wondering what was going on she stopped. A patrol-box was built at the street corner, and standing by this was a strong swartly polumnan holding a yonng fellow by the arm. The little knot standing by this was a strong swartiny potasinan notating a young fetious by the arm. The little knot of on-lookers gazed intently at the young fellow as he covered his face with his handkerchief, sobbing out as he did to, "Oh, my poor mother! if my mother only have" "What a shame," said a man who looked on in pity. Two little boys shouled out "Here comes the pasrol!" and in a little while the poor fellow was harried into the vehicle, and driven off to the Police Station. He had evidently The besides who clocked on my pily. And makes the second makes the professional temperature of been drinking and was arrested accordingly. Further commont is unnecessary.
